19th National Capitol Forum on Hispanic Higher Education

H A C U

Washington Marriott at Metro Center • Washington, D.C. • April 7-8, 2014

The Hispanic Education Agenda is America's Education Agenda

ETS believes that investing in the educational and economic success of the Hispanic community means investing in the educational and economic success of America. Over the years, our nonprofit organization has convened national conferences, published research and supported programs focusing on the achievement of Hispanic Americans.

HACU's 19th National Capitol Forum — with its focus on higher education — gives our nation's leaders and organizations the opportunity to discuss ways to create a world of opportunities for Hispanic learners.

ETS develops, administers and scores more than 50 million tests annually — including the TOEFL® and TOEIC® tests, the GRE® General and Subject Tests and The Praxis Series™ assessments — in over 180 countries, at more than 9,000 locations worldwide.

Letter from the President

On behalf of the Hispanic Association of Colleges and Universities (HACU), thank you for participating in our 19th Annual National Capitol Forum on Hispanic Higher Education. Since our last Capitol Forum gathering, there have been significant challenges in assuring that equitable federal funding for Hispanic-Serving Institutions (HSIs) is attained, yet there is still a long way to go in meeting the demands of a growing Hispanic college-age population.

The recent FY 2014 appropriations bill signed by President Obama provided a few reasons for optimism that education is moving higher on the list of legislative concerns. Slight increases to the Title V and Pell Grant programs were welcome, as was the $20 million set-aside for the new First in the World Fund. Last year's Hill visits by Capitol Forum participants were effective in getting a record number of Members of Congress to include programs like these in their budget requests.

The recently passed Farm Bill also reauthorized programs that support HSIs and Hispanic-Serving Agricultural Colleges and Universities (HSACUs) and added a new competitive grants program for Hispanic agricultural workers and youth that had been proposed and advanced by HACU. We now need to work on ensuring that these programs are funded in the FY 2015 appropriations process.

These successes, however, should serve to further galvanize our advocacy efforts. We need to speak clearly and together on behalf of our institutions, our students, and our future to reaffirm support for HSIs and Hispanic higher education success as a national imperative.

We are pleased to have respected representatives of associations, institutions and organizations that share our mission of increasing access to higher education for Hispanics with us to provide their insights. Their contributions to our Forum will make our Capitol Hill visits much more effective in making the case for increased funding for education.

I hope you can join us Monday evening for the HACU Alumni Association (HAA) Reception, where you can meet and mingle with former HACU interns and scholars. These young leaders and professionals are the reasons our mission to champion Hispanic higher education success is so important. Your presence today demonstrates the value you place on higher education as a public good and on the educational progress of Hispanics in particular. We are also very grateful to our partners and sponsors, whose generous support helps make this 19th annual Capitol Forum possible.

Cordially,

Letter from the Chair

Welcome to the Capitol Forum.

As Chair of HACU's Governing Board, I am pleased to welcome you to the HACU National Capitol Forum. Your time here will be well spent, especially during our Capitol Hill visits on Tuesday when we have the opportunity to make our case for Hispanic higher education directly to decision-makers.

These visits are crucial to preserving and increasing funding for Hispanic-Serving Institutions (HSIs) across the country. We cannot allow the recent legislative advances to lull us into complacency: getting our programs authorized (or re-authorized) is only half the battle. Without appropriations for them, these programs remain empty promises. No one knows better than we who are committed to guiding Hispanic students through postsecondary education how much of a difference a well-crafted and adequately-funded program can make to our students.

Despite progress in recent years, HSIs on average still receive only 69 cents for every federal dollar (per student) allocated to other institutions of higher education. With achievement and attainment gaps persisting and the primary and secondary student populations becoming increasingly Hispanic, our nation's future increasingly depends on assuring that Hispanic Americans are fully prepared to take their place in the global economy.

I look forward to working side-by-side with you at the Capitol Forum to effect positive change for our students!

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to be 'JA' with a flourish.

60 years of successful English language testing around the world

MELAB[®]

The Michigan English Language Assessment Battery—MELAB—accurately measures the readiness of college-bound students who require an English qualification for admission purposes.

HACU member organizations that recognize the MELAB can admit international students knowing that they possess the language ability to succeed at the collegiate level. A growing number of universities recognize the MELAB as an alternative to the TOEFL[®] or IELTS[™], often collaborating with CaMLA to set their own cut scores.

The MELAB is relevant to college and university admissions

- Specifically designed for admission to North American institutions
- Administered only at CaMLA-authorized test centers
- Scored by trained and certified CaMLA raters
- Official scores are reported directly to the institution

The MELAB provides a complete assessment of English language proficiency

- Exam tasks provide opportunities for test takers to demonstrate both receptive and productive language skills
- Part scores and overall score reflect test takers' true language abilities and readiness for undergraduate or graduate studies
- MELAB scores are also used for certification of English proficiency by various professional and licensing organizations

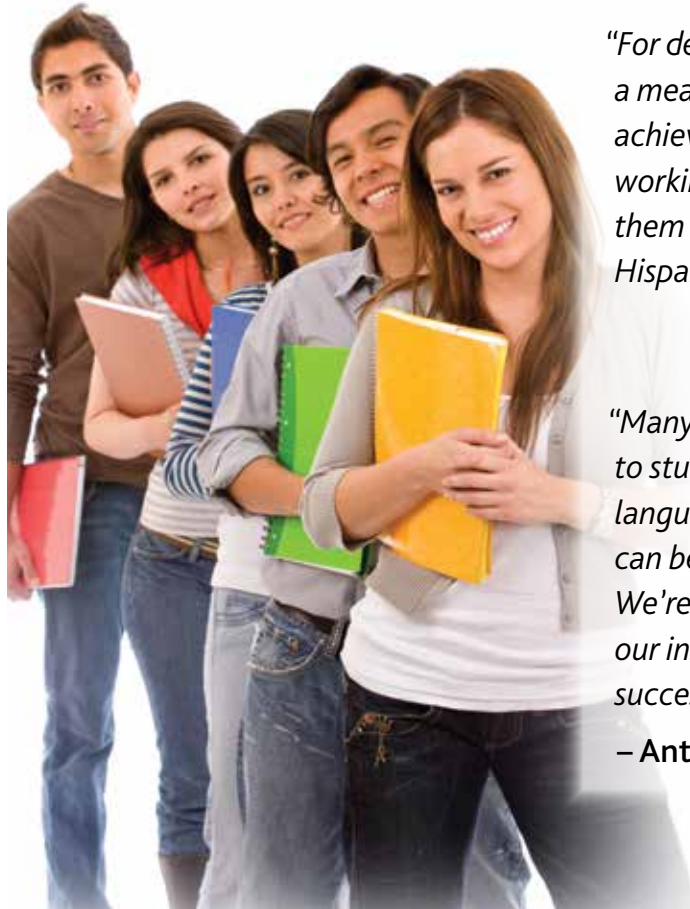

For more information about the MELAB, visit www.CambridgeMichigan.org/melab or email CaMLA directly: info@cambridgemichigan.org

CaMLA and HACU Team Up for Education

CaMLA—Cambridge Michigan Language Assessments—and HACU have entered into a strategic partnership to increase higher-education opportunities for Hispanic college students whose first language is not English.

“For decades, CaMLA’s assessments have provided a means for nonnative speakers of English to achieve their dreams, and we look forward to working with HACU and its members to support them in their efforts to champion the success of Hispanics in higher education.”

– Casey Marks, CEO of CaMLA

“Many HACU member institutions reach out to students from across the world whose first language is not English. CaMLA’s assessments can be key in helping these students succeed. We’re pleased to partner with CaMLA to offer our institutions another tool in assuring student success.”

– Antonio R. Flores, HACU president and CEO

About CaMLA

CaMLA is a not-for-profit collaboration between the University of Michigan and the University of Cambridge, two institutions with long and distinguished histories in the field of language assessment, teaching, and research. Its mission is to offer a comprehensive and flexible set of the highest-quality products and services to help educational, governmental, and private-sector institutions meet their English language assessment needs.

For more information on how CaMLA can support HACU members, visit www.CambridgeMichigan.org or email CaMLA directly: info@cambridgemichigan.org

Reclaiming the Promise of Higher Education for All Students

The American Federation of Teachers salutes the Hispanic Association of Colleges and Universities for its ongoing efforts to open the doors of opportunity to all students—including DREAMers and their families.

Our 1.5 million members—including those we represent at 25 different Hispanic-serving institutions—are proud to stand with HACU in support of the many HSI programs that prepare the Hispanic educators of tomorrow.

A high-quality system of public higher education is critical to the health of the nation. Higher education that is accessible and affordable by all who are qualified helps ensure that all students achieve their full potential, and it is essential to the future of the United States as a vibrant democracy and an engine of economic opportunity and justice.

That's why the AFT is uniting with students, parents, faculty, staff and community partners to reclaim the promise of higher education.
